Student Induction Programme: “Teacher in New Normal”

Induction Programme & Bridge course on ‘Teacher in new normal’

In this present world, things have changed pretty much after the Covid pandemic. So now, we use 'New normal' as a word to define this post pandemic time. Teachers are no longer regarded as an essential part in education, in this IT world. But teachers are the only people who can act as a mentor in moulding a better generation. Now teachers have to perform differently to deal with new students. In this attempt, they are bound to meet new challenges. So this session of 'Bridge Course' helped us to know those challenges and their solutions. Mr. Nithin Nangoth, a respected external mentor, international human columnist, National celebrity mentor and a change management expert was assigned as a resource person for the session. Harsha Santosh from Natural Science introduced Mr. Nithin Nangoth to the batch. The session reflected the professional competency of him, since he has been dealing with many groups of people at various occasions for more than 20 years now.

He has dealt about 4 hours, including morning and afternoon sessions. His talk was simple, yet powerful. Some important points he pointed out are

- Self confidence
- Competitive quotient
- Energy, wealth and knowledge
- Clapping, time management, observation & concentration.

Next session began with a thrilling game by Santhosh sir. This ignited the mind and body of young teacher trainees, who would in future become the social engineers. The session was followed by a chain of activities. These activities were mind blowing and empowering. It also helped to increase the concentration, memory and team spirit. The winner of the activities was congratulated with gifts. This was a good experience for the student teachers.

Teaching becomes effective when the three aspects come together: Preparation, teaching and evaluation. It is a cyclic process. With the help of a student teacher Rosha B. Roy of English optional, Santhosh sir conducted an activity through which it is revealed that our classrooms are inclusive in nature but there are students with different phases of learning therefore every child should be treated individually.

Thereafter the class was divided into 10 group with the name of classroom objects like chalk, microscope, blackboard etc. Each group was given a task too. The topic "Teacher in The New Normal Transforming With changing Roles" was very well explained to the student teachers with this task. The session concludes with an Oscar awarded short film and the teachers were very happy and contented.

Dr. Jessy N.C., Principal of PKM College gave vote of thanks to the guests and also stressed on the key points of their classes. The second day induction programme came to an end with a talk of gratitude by Alex Jose from Malayalam optional.

DAY2-SESSION 2

The 2nd session of the programme started at 01.30 pm. Mr. Manoj Kuriakose was invited as the resource person who is an English teacher with more than 20 years of experience. Ms. Aiswarya K gave a brief introduction on the session and invited Ms. Linet Treesa Mathew for the welcome address. Dr. Veena Appukuttan shared her prior experience with the resource person.

Mr. Manoj Kuriakose started the session by sharing one of his most memorable experiences where he attended the class of a dumb person, through which he enlightened us about the importance of having confidence and self- belief. Throughout the class, he maintained a pleasant face which itself is a quality a teacher should attain. The session was, in fact, a journey through his life stories and experiences as a teacher. He made us realize the importance of making students fall in love with both the teacher and the subject and thus creating a friendly environment in the classroom.

The session resumed after a short break. In the next section he provided us with various tips on how to establish a warm relation with the students. He reiterated the fact that a teacher should not be judgmental and prejudiced with a stereotyped mind. He also urged us to find our own teaching method and thus to create a unique identity. There was an interacting session where some of the student teachers shared their concerns. Ms. Archana K. N. and Ms. Aiswarya P. V. embellished the session with their beautiful songs.

At the end of the session, the students were provided the opportunity to give their valuable feedback on the programme. Then Fr. ## REPORT

Student Induction Programme-Day 4 (2022-2023)

The fourth day of Student Induction Programme for the 1st year B.Ed. students (2022-2024) was held on 6th October 2022 at 09.30 am by P. K. M. College of Education, Madampam. Mr. Nithin Nangoth was invited as the resource person who is a Multi-Talented HRD Trainer, Counselling, Psychologist, Sports Psychologist, International Celebrity Mentor, Social and Spiritual orator. Ms. Ann Maria Raju delivered the welcome address and enunciated the relevance of the topic. Dr. Veena Appukuttan introduced the resource person to us.

The programme started with an ice breaking session where he made us to sit in a circle. The class included various games and interactive sessions. Through these activities he made us understand the various challenges a teacher could face in the present scenario and the ways to tackle the same. He made us work on our logical thinking and reasoning skills through various games.

The underlying motive of the session was to make us realize the 6Qs in life which are IQ, EQ, RQ, SQ, SDQ and CQ. He also made us realize the importance of grabbing opportunities at the right time and urged us to be our own promoters.
